

Island Pacific and Ingenico to Showcase the Latest Innovative Retail Mobile Solutions at CeBIT 2012

Sydney, 14 May 2012 - Island Pacific, a leading global provider of software solutions and services to the retail industry, and Ingenico, a leading worldwide provider of payment, transaction and business solutions, will showcase their latest innovative mobile technologies at CeBIT 2012.

Island Pacific, a provider of high value software solutions that assist retailers to create, manage, and fulfil consumer demand, will launch the Island Pacific Mobile and Store Sales Monitor retail solutions, supported by Ingenico's latest mobile hardware terminal solutions.

Clive Klugman, CEO, Island Pacific Australia said, "The adoption of mobile technology by the retail industry has resulted in the transformation of the in-store customer experience, enabling retailers to extend their sales role by engaging with customers, giving product advice and performing sales operations all while on the sales floor with the customer.

"We are delighted to have this opportunity at CeBIT to demonstrate the latest retail mobile hardware and software solutions with Ingenico, a proven world leader in groundbreaking retail technology solutions."

Leveraging from Island Pacific's traditional POS solutions which support the entire retail supply chain including, POS, multi-channel, wholesale, mobile, planning, business intelligence and manufacturing, the Island Pacific Mobile solution has been developed and enhanced with the intuition of today's mobile devices.

Interactive features of the Island Pacific Mobile include fast sales transactions, customer search with customers' key performance statistics, options to email or print dockets, lay-by, product enquiries, stocktake and customer loyalty programs. The solution can be deployed either stand-alone in a pop-up store environment or be integrated into a store's current POS infrastructure.

Island Pacific's Store Sales Monitor provides a consolidated view of a retail business by enabling the business owner or manager to obtain a real-time view on their mobile device of exactly what each retail store is currently selling, including profits and sales, by store value and percentage, any time and from anywhere in the world, allowing decisions to be made remotely with realtime information.

Ingenico's reputation for developing and optimising cutting-edge secure electronic payment solutions, will be demonstrated at CeBIT with the latest in its range of innovative mobile terminal solutions.

Connecting consumers to a host of value-added services, the mobile terminals supporting Island Pacific mobile software solutions will include Ingenico's compact iPA280, the first truly mass-market payment PDA including Windows CE with GSM, GPRS, Bluetooth, WiFi and an integrated printer allowing for mobile EFTPOS, which dramatically increases POS up-sell opportunities and delivers maximum return on terminal investments.

The iSMP, a sleeve designed to accept an Apple iPhone or iPod Touch allows for mobile payment on the iOS platform making it a unique Smart Mobile POS terminal. It's features include an iOS interface, integrated 1D/2D barcode reader, long lasting battery life, Bluetooth connectivity and a universal payment platform.

Finally, the iWL200 series is a full range of pocket-size mobile solutions, which incorporate all of Ingenico's latest innovative and security expertise, producing the first pocket sized wireless payment terminal using Bluetooth to connect to an Android device for mobile payment.

The Island Pacific and Ingenico Stand is located in Hall 3, Stand No: K44. CeBit is being staged at the Darling Harbour Exhibition Centre, Sydney from 22-24 May 2012.
